the bandung conference was one of the great political events of the 1950s more than half a century after the first great gathering of heads of independent asian and african countries this book presents some new and unusual perspectives on the history of the conference focusing on some under researched individuals countries and themes lebanon s charles malik egypt s gamal abdel nasser japanese intellectuals burmese socialists australian politicians the authors demonstrate the historical depth and repercussions of the conference in 1955 a conference was held in bandung indonesia that was attended by representatives from twenty nine nations against the backdrop of crumbling european empires asian and african leaders forged new alliances and established anti imperial principles for a new world order the conference came to capture popular imaginations across the global south and as counterpoint to the dominant world order it became both an act of collective imagination and a practical political project for decolonization that inspired a range of social movements diplomatic efforts institutional experiments and heterodox visions of the history and future of the world in this book leading international scholars explore what the spirit of bandung has meant to people across the world over the past decades and what it means today it analyzes bandung s complicated and pivotal impact on global history international law and most of all justice struggles after the end of formal colonialism while richard wright s account of the 1955 bandung conference has been key to shaping afro asian historical narratives indonesian accounts of wright and his conference attendance have been largely overlooked indonesian notebook contains myriad documents by indonesian writers intellectuals and reporters as well as a newly recovered lecture by wright previously published only in indonesian brian russell roberts and keith foulcher introduce and contextualize these documents with extensive background information and analysis showcasing the heterogeneity of postcolonial modernity and underscoring the need to consider non english language perspectives in transnational cultural exchanges this collection of primary sources and scholarly histories is a crucial companion volume to wright s the color curtain this book sheds new light on the foreign policies roles and positions of neutral states and the non aligned movement nam in the global cold war the volume places the neutral states and the nam in the context of the cold war and demonstrates the links between the east the west and the so called third world in doing so this collection provides readers an alternative way of exploring the evolution and impact of the cold war on north south connections that challenges traditional notions of the post 1945 history of international relations the various contributions are framed against the backdrop of the evolution of the cold war international system and the decolonization process in the southern hemisphere by juxtaposing the policies of european neutrals and countries of the nam this book offers new perspectives on the evolution of the cold war with the links between these two groups of countries receiving very little attention in cold war scholarship the volume thus offers a window into a hitherto neglected perspective on the cold war via a series of case studies the chapters here present new viewpoints on the evolution of the global cold war through the exploration of the ensuing internal and mainly external policy choices of these nations this book will be of much interest to students of cold war studies international history foreign policy security studies and ir in general
